Whole Person Development Scheme in Tin Shui Wai

This project aims to increase the competitiveness and knowledge of the secondary school students in Tin Shui Wai. We hope all participants can improve their knowledge through communicating with different people from different backgrounds.

This project named as “Whole Person Development Scheme”. It is divided into three parts including series of workshops, a mentorship program and local trips. Every participant is expected to be assigned at least one mentor in this program in order to give them a chance of understanding the society from a fresh angle.

All mentors can make a huge difference. Whether it is their time or support, all mentors can help us to change the lives of these young teenagers and broaden their horizons. Every mentor will be matched with a young teen and this will be a yearlong mentor relationship. As a mentor, he/she will serve as a role model and share the experiences in school or society to their mentees. During the program, all mentors will have time to get to know their mentees and attend workshops with them.

About Roundtable Community

Roundtable Community (Roundtable Research and Education Community, RC) was established in 2004. RC offers a variety of opportunities for young people to motivate their social participation, develop their sense of social responsibility and enhance their social mobility. By serving as a cross-cultural nexus, we hope to help building a multi-cultural and diversified society for further advancement of our civic society.
