People want to give
but not enough
people do.
Intentions don't equal actions.

The act of giving doesn't have to be selfless to be valuable, appreciated and meaningful.

Motive doesn't change impact.

A group of four people (two women and two men) are standing on a grassy hillside, looking out over a vast landscape at sunset. They are all facing away from the camera and have their arms around each other's shoulders in a supportive embrace. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow and a lens flare effect. The background shows rolling hills and a clear sky. In the foreground, there are some items on the ground, including a bag and a green bottle.
